Mission

The Workers' Compensation Commission administers the workers' compensation laws of the State of Connecticut with the ultimate goal of ensuring that workers injured on the job receive prompt payment of lost work time benefits and attendant medical expenses. To this end, the Commission facilitates voluntary agreements, adjudicates disputes, makes findings and awards, hears and rules on appeals, and closes out cases through full and final stipulated settlements.

Statutory Authority

Since the Workers' Compensation Act (Chapter 568, C.G.S.) was adopted in 1913, numerous enhancements and modifications in coverage and benefits have been made by the Legislature. With few exceptions, all workers and employers are now covered by the workers' compensation laws. When a worker has suffered a job-related injury or illness, he or she is entitled to certain well-defined wage replacement and medical benefits. The mission of the Workers' Compensation Commission is to ensure injured employees' rights are fully protected, and that workers and employers fully carry out their legal responsibilities. There are fifteen At-Large Commissioners who serve in eight district offices throughout the state. They are appointed by the Governor with legislative approval. A sixteenth Commissioner serves as Chairman of the Commission. The Chairman is responsible for administration of the entire Commission. The Chairman also serves as Chief of the Compensation Review Board (CRB) along with two other Commissioners appointed by him for one-year terms to hear appeals of cases decided by the Commissioners. The Commission also educates employees about their legal rights. During FY 2013, the Commission's Safety Program Officers worked hard and effectively to monitor worker safety committees throughout the state. Prevention and education are integral to the Commission's statutory responsibilities. A Statistical Division measures and monitors the caseload and performance of the Commission.

In recent years, two landmark reform bills were enacted.

The first, (Public Act 91-339) centralized administrative duties and powers in the person and Office of the Chairman to more effectively implement enforcement of the law. Twenty-three specific duties were assigned to the Chairman, including budgetary and personnel matters, assignment of Commissioners, and regulation of attorneys, physicians, and preferred provider organizations. The Chairman and his staff implement these responsibilities, guided by an Advisory Board composed of business and labor representatives, including an injured worker.

The second, (Public Act 93-228) effected historic reforms of the Connecticut workers' compensation laws effective July 1, 1993. The benefit modifications and related reforms contained in this Act, combined with the efficiencies engendered by Public Act 91-339, have resulted in reduced payouts. Cumulative savings over these past years are over $750 million dollars compared to what costs would have been without the 1993 reforms.

Public Service

The Commission constantly strives to upgrade service to its clientele. Two key goals are: expediting disputed claims settlement, and returning injured workers to productive jobs. These goals are closely monitored by the Commission through manual and automated reporting systems.

Safety Program Officers work cooperatively and confidentially with employers to devise and implement safety programs resulting in reduced accidents, injuries, medical costs and lost workdays. During the period of July 1, 2012 to June 30, 2013, Safety Program Officers visited 2,100 employer sites. In total, 32,623 employer sites have been visited, and 5,100 safety and health committees, covering 851,759 employees, have been approved. Medical care plans, including preferred provider organizations, are also reviewed for compliance with workplace safety and health laws.

The Commission participates in the Connecticut Licensing Information Center, providing one-stop licensing information to state employers via the Internet.

Improvements/Achievements 2012-2013

During the Fiscal Year ending June 30, 2013, the Commission moved aggressively to provide more effective and efficient service delivery.

All duties and responsibilities continue to be executed effectively and punctually with fewer full-time employees than in the last several years.

Continual monitoring of hearing backlogs at the eight district offices, and reassignment of resources to meet heavy workloads, have resulted in a major decrease in time between initial hearing request and the date the hearing is actually held. Hearing backlog is down dramatically for both informal and formal hearings. The Chairman actively monitors cases ensuring that no cases are unnecessarily delayed.

The Compensation Review Board continues to process cases expeditiously. This year, new appeals numbered 94. Meanwhile, there were 86 dispositions, including 61 written opinions.

To help monitor medical costs, (comprising 50 percent of total workers' compensation payments), the Commission reviews and approves applications for managed care plans. As of June 30, 3,649 employers and 574,978 employees have approved plans.

A steadily increasing percentage of on-line reporting of workplace injuries has resulted in more accurate data at lower cost. During Fiscal Year 2013, the implementation of an injury reporting system facilitating web-based as well as value added network submission of first reports continued to attract additional fully-automated trading partners resulting in greater accuracy and cost effectiveness in injury reporting. The Commission, mandates that all such first reports are transmitted through value added networks or web-based reporting. Injured workers now routinely receive information packets detailing their rights and responsibilities within five days of receipt of the initial report of injury.

The Commission's web site has expanded vastly, providing vital, up-to-date information on all aspects of the Commission's resources and services including the law, CRB decisions and late-breaking news. Additionally, the Commission's major forms are now available in fill-able PDF format.

The Commission offers an enhanced capability to its online fillable PDF-formatted forms which enables customers to not only fill them in online, but also to save them along with their input data (a technical first which saves customers from having to spend hundreds of dollars per computer to buy special software to perform this task) and this new capability is now provided free to the public.

Two online services, the Coverage Verification Service (CVS) and First Report of Injury Submission (FRIS) Service, were both officially launched in the fiscal year 2009. These two innovations are the agency's first interactive online services provided to the general public through our website, and provided at no charge.

During FY 2013 the Commission continued major upgrades, affecting most of the Commission's core functions, including claims processing, scheduling, and health and safety programs. Hearing notices are beginning to be sent by electronic mail to interested parties in hearings, thereby saving staff time and postage expenses. Operating systems and office mail are currently "state of the art". All aspects of the Commission's operations are being addressed with an eye toward increased efficiency and responsiveness to the needs of injured workers and the general public. All Commission employees have updated desk top computers to help ensure the fastest possible processing of vital business transactions.

Committees on the claims process, forms design, and intra-office communications, established in prior years continue their productive work. The Commission's strategic planning goals are:

- shortening the claims process in order to get benefits to injured workers as soon as possible;
- elimination of duplicate claims;
- identification of non-insured employers;
- quick retrieval of records, saving personnel costs; and,
- sophisticated data analysis to identify trouble spots before they become serious, thus affording greatly enhanced service to Connecticut workers.

Information Reported As Required by State Statute

The Commission's Affirmative Action Plan is currently in compliance. While the commission has no full time Affirmative Action Officer, its Affirmative Action Plan and Program are prepared by its personnel officer. The commission continues its commitment to the state Affirmative Action Program.

Key Performance Measures

FY 2013

Injuries/Illnesses – 57,111

Fatalities - 32

Informal Hearings – 43,364

Formal Hearings – 796

Pre-formal Hearings – 7,482

Note that the number of all three types of hearings is lower than the count in prior years because of a revision in the concept of what constitutes an actual held hearing. Prior year counts are based on scheduled hearing slots. This year's numbers are lower because they reflect the fact that multiple hearings scheduled for a particular claimant are often combined into a single hearing and does not reflect a downward trend in actual hearing activity.

Voluntary Agreements – 21,270

Stipulations – 6,625

Awards – 1,703

Dismissals – 162

Education Services Information

Responses – 60,063

Website – 271,112 visits; 1,003,469 page views; and, 122,394 forms, publications and news feeds downloaded.

Please note that the numbers look significantly smaller this year than in some years; this is because DOIT/BEST switched from WebTrends web statistics software to Google Analytics web service last fiscal year to track State of Connecticut website activity, and the Google tracking service uses very different methods to collect the information from those parameters and methods employed by the previous WebTrends product.

According to DOIT/BEST, the Google service is actually far more accurate.
